

Teach3 Event

Teach3 Bradford and the Northern Lights Teaching School Alliance deliver a programme aiming to prepare teachers at the start of their careers.

The programme is aimed at newly qualified teachers and aims to help them become outstanding in the classroom and effective leaders by providing training and workshops alongside their peers. The programme is split into three focuses which will look at professional engagement, outstanding teaching and learning and professional development.

The first session on professional engagement took place at Feversham College and allowed delegates to collaborate and network with other teachers from across Bradford schools. There was the opportunity to develop a variety of practical teaching and learning ideas with a focus on 'Getting to know your students'. This was achieved by looking at data and data tracking sheets, the use of seating plans, mark books, students starting and finishing points.

There will be a further session at Feversham in November where participants can choose an elective to be delivered by Bradford Consultants.

November 2014

